What of the ballads?
I am anxious to know. because if they are to be done for next month no time must be lost - I must make use of the Guildhall Library and that will shut for a week or more directly. And I want a transcript of half-a-dozen yet, which will want noting.

I hope Mr Collier is favorable as I am very anxious to do them by way of completing my former contribution, and I really think they would make an interesting sheet or two.

Will you favor me
with your determination, and believe me your obliged

P. W. Fairholp
